Galileo eXtreme

Galileo eXtreme

"Galileo eXtreme" is an action-packed exploration of science. By virtue of its high quality production standards, which present astonishing experiments enhanced by fascinating imagery and exceptional graphics, "Galileo eXtreme" promises to be an explosive cocktail of entertainment - transforming education into a breathtaking experience.

"Galileo eXtreme" seeks to determine the answers to uncommon questions, investigating everyday myths and frequent misconceptions - regardless of how dangerous the specific experiment might be. The bigger the challenge, the better - the courageous Galileo testers know absolutely no limits...

Beyond the spectacular images, the issues "Galileo eXtreme" tackles are highly relevant in today's world.

In each of the episodes, one special topic receives in-depth treatment, giving viewers a thoroughly comprehensive understanding of the subject.

"Galileo eXtreme" answers such interesting questions as: Can a cell phone cause a gas station to explode? Would the weight of an elephant make a waterbed burst or would it take a car crashing down from a height of 30m? Is it possible that a swimming team can actually tow a ship? Is the force generated by 2500 fireworks-class rockets enough to propel a man into the air?

The show focuses on other scientific topics as well. What actually happens when a car is hit by lightning? If a billion Chinese all leap from their chairs in the same instant, could their combined impact cause the Earth to shake?

Galileo eXtreme

Apart from delving into an endless variety of scientific themes, there is also the documenting of unusual and entertaining record-breaking attempts, such as the largest snowman ever built, or the highest tower of coins ever erected...

Welcome to the exciting world of "Galileo eXtreme"!
